QUALITY HEALTHCARE
SOLUTIONS DELIVERED THROUGH
TELEMEDICINE TECHNOLOGY

By Nandini Mukherjee

Now is the time for instant solutions on the go! The demand for instant results is seeping into every corner of our lives, be in real life or virtual-Retailers are jumping into same-day delivery services. Smartphone apps are eliminating the wait for a cab, a table at a happening restaurant. Healthcare apps and mobile solutions are improving communication and care coordination among specialists, doctors, nurses, and others. Due to lack of time, everyone craves for solutions at their fingertips. The same is being applicable for the healthcare services. Though to a certain extent instant solutions can be provided for the curative services, the preventive health care initiatives have a latent period during their execution and hence it takes considerably long time to show in results. To add to this, the medical practices involve an abundance of empathy. A healing touch to a patient by the health care providers results in a better outcome in diseases. All of these factors to a certain extent work adversely in showing the improvement of healthcare. With anticipation, of the world, moving towards becoming a global village, the virtual healthcare and technological advancement will definitely show its results, and it's not very far off.
