• Dial your Doctor services

With the motto “The Doctor is always in”, the organisation aims at using the most common gadget- mobile to reach to the patients in need of the Doctor. Dial your doctor services enable the patients to reach to the doctor through the phone and receiving desired consultation. This reduces the waiting time and the time wasted due to travel to reach to the doctors for minor ailments. Our prominent clients are IHO, Bajaj Alliance, medi Assist, Med Labs, Health Assure,

• (Electronic Primary Healthcare Centre)- Digital Clinic in Government setup

e-UPHC is a Public Private Partnership (PPP) model of Government and eVaidya to collaboratively implement the NUHM healthcare to the urban slums with focus on accessibility to the urban slum and vulnerable population. It is a new age concept to bring holistic care to the local community. It is a combination of primary healthcare centre, physician or tele-consultation, pharmacy, imaging and Lab services combined together under one roof. The centre also has ANM and ASHA workers, who conduct the health and nutrition days, participating in National public health programs like RNTPC, NTPC, family planning, de-worming, immunization, registration of the Antenatal care, promoting institutional delivery, providing epidemic alerts, contributing in reducing the IMR and MMR.

be implemented so far. The AP government further took a step ahead and converted all the UPHC into eUPHCs and currently it runs with on the name of MukhyaMantri Arogya Kendramulu. We have bagged two similar projects in the state of Telengana too and it has been successfully running,” informs Srinivasa.

eVaidya aspires to create a self-sustainable healthcare ecosystem in India, which encourages the best medical practices to reach the common man and permeate through the various strata of society. While the center of attraction of other players in the healthcare space is Telemedicine for tertiary and secondary care, eVaidya is more focused on making telemedicine accessible where it is needed the most—primary care for citizens of Urban slums, Rural, Tribal & Remote locations. “We do our best to provide the possibility of universal access to primary healthcare. Thus our technology developing seeks at developing a process which can be implemented with minimal infrastructure and minimal skilled manpower,” he says.

Bold Mission. Bright Future.

eVaidya’s vision of a healthier and happier India is the cumulative initiative of its highly inspired leadership team, who not only come with a wealth of experience but perspectives from disciplines ranging from technology to medicine to manufacturing. This combined outlook on the new technologically charged healthcare industry is what drives eVaidya’s vision and mission, and inspires all our staff to reach greater heights.

The company understands the impact of a powerful work culture within the organization and strives to deliberately shape a culture that encourages and appreciates employee efforts & collaboration around a shared set of values. “Every day is a typical day in IT healthcare ecosystem by leveraging advanced telemedicine technology and eVaidya being one of them, we believe that each employee is unique individual and the strength and weakness of each is taken into account and with agreed vision and purpose with clear focus expectations we can achieve the desired outcomes together,” concludes Srinivasa.
